AMS FULFILLMENT HELPS EMPLOYEES AND COMMUNITY

AMS Fulfillment holds an employee rummage sale to help employees and raise money for the community!

Los Angeles, CA — May 14, 2008 — AMS Fulfillment, provider of business-to-business and business-to-consumer fulfillment services, holds first annual “employee rummage sale”. The rummage sale was originally developed by employees, for employees, and ended with a cash donation to the Domestic Violence Center of Santa Clarita Valley. All employees were encouraged to bring in their used-but-nice clothing and household items. The sale was held for employees during lunch hour. “All items were priced very inexpensively”, said Ana Leyba, the AMS Account Manager in charge of organizing the event. “During these tough times, it helps our employees pick up some needed items at a very low cost. We were delighted to have helped our employees and make a cash donation to a local charity.”

AMS President, Jay Catlin, and business partner/CEO Ken Wiseman have established a reputation for their proactive commitment to employees and the community. “We are always looking for ways to assist our employees and the community,” said Wiseman. “Every nickel and dime in today’s economic environment can have a big impact.” AMS President, Jay Catlin adds: “We are pleased AMS is doing well despite the economic times, but it’s still important for us all to continue to find ways to assist our employees & community wherever we can.”
